THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

BY THE GOVERNOR.

During the past year, Wisconsin has been favored with bountiful harvests, our industries have increased and our resources have developed. Prosperity has rewarded every commendable effort made for our advancement, and good health has prevailed throughout the state.

In accordance with the time-honored custom which annually sets apart a day for rendering thanks to Almighty God for the dispensation of His kind Providence, and for the peace and happiness He has vouchsafed our people, and in conformity with the proclamation of the president of the United States, I Jeremiah M. Rusk, Governor of the state of Wisconsin, do designate as a day of Thanksgiving and praise, and recommend that all public and private business be suspended on that day, and that the people render thanks to the Supreme Ruler for the many blessings they have enjoyed.

Thursday, November 26th Instant,

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the state of Wisconsin to be affixed.

Done at the city of Madison, [Great Seal] this ninth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

By the Governor: J. M. RUSK.
ERNST G. TIMME, Secretary of State.

Love's labor has been lost again. Miss Bart, of Illinois, who was raised from a bed of death by prayer and faith, has eloped with the pastor who did the praying, and who has a wife and four children.

The hall of the house of representatives at Washington gets a new carpet every congress. It takes 1,370 yards to cover the floor, and usually body-brussels is used which costs not much more than a dollar a yard.

When the democratic national convention adopted its platform it made haste to resolve that territorial officers should be selected from the residents of the territories. But the administration seems to have forgotten the resolution.

We presume that when congress opens Morrison and that class of free traders will air themselves with speeches in which they will try to prove that it is best for the United States to have foreign countries do our manufacturing for us.

The report comes from Washington that Colonel Vilas and his wife will not do any society business the coming winter. The postmaster general has all he can do to kick out republican postmasters and put in their places democratic partisans.

A good many of the southerners who were office seekers and failed to get what they longed for, have since learned that they can make more money selling cotton and attending to other business, than they can by loafing about Washington begging for offices.

A Washington correspondent writes that the president's health is growing more vigorous every day. It seems to have improved very much since the New York election, and his mind to kick out more republicans than ever, has been greatly strengthened.

It is comforting to the democrats, says the St. Louis Republican, a Jacksonian democratic paper, to read that the two new civil service commissioners are charged with being in favor of the spoils doctrine. Any doctrine that will give the democratic party more offices will be enthusiastically supported by the democratic party.

Charley Seymour is not an offensive partisan, although he gave the democratic party some sound lashings when he was editor of the LaCrosse Republican; but since he was appointed consul to Canton, China, he has faithfully attended to his business, and in all respects made a thoroughly good officer. But ex-Congressman Franklin, of Kansas, wanted Seymour's place, and so Charley was ordered to come home.

Tennessee is not altogether a state of worthless hills and barren mountains. It has plenty of good land on which is excellent timber, and which can be bought for $1.50 an acre. When Tennesse gets into that fortunate frame of mind which prizes material prosperity more than the domination of the democratic party, its land will quadruple in price, and then be worth nearly one fourth as much as lands in Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas. A gentleman writing from Tennessee says: "There are numbers of wild cherry trees in Blount and Sevier counties, Tennessee, measuring from twelve to fifteen feet in circumference. The land on which they grow can be bought for $1.50 per acre."

Public men in Washington, whose incomes are princely, are not free from the petty annoyances of life to which the mass of common people are almost constantly subjected. Senator Palmer, of Michigan, has just completed one of the handsomest and most costly residences in Washington. It is a four-story brown front, of unique architecture. Just beyond his residence is a very large house built something like the Washington British legation. It is occupied by an eccentric Washingtonian named Lawry. Senator Palmer built a stable on his lot as far away from his neighbor as was possible. The stable offended Mr. Lawry, however, and he avenged himself by building a wall nine feet high between his lot and the senator's. This wall rises above the only window in Senator Palmer's dining room, so darkening it that it cannot be used except by artificial light. It also shuts off the view of an adjacent park in which the rich man took delight. But Mr. Lawry being also rich, can afford obstinacy, and the senator has no means of inducing him to remove the obstruction.

The people of Georgia have a right idea of the liquor question. In voting for or against the selling of liquor, all party or color lines were obliterated. The growth of the anti-liquor sentiment in that state, surprises no people more than the Georgians themselves. Enjoying a fancied security in the traditional right to buy and sell what had been a public commodity for generations, both dealers and politicians who favored a continuance of the traffic unconcernedly granted what seemed to be in consequential concessions to their opponents. Thus one after another of the counties was accorded the privilege of voting upon the subject themselves, and no organized opposition was made until it was ascertained that local option prevailed in over two thirds of the state and that the business of the dealers had fallen off over fifty per cent. This result is a credit to Georgia, and is well worth the attention of the temperance workers in other states.

The prospectus of the New York Tribune is printed to-day in another column. It is worth perusal. Some large cash prizes are offered, and a series of articles are announced, which will be of especial interest to old soldiers, and, indeed, to all who are interested in the romance of the war. It is due to the Tribune to say that it deserves well of the republican party this winter, for the sake of the good work it has performed this past year. Faithful when other papers were false or half-hearted, aggressive, making no mistakes, constantly urging organization and work as necessary to success, it made the most telling argumentative points of the whole campaign. The Tribune has been goodly reading all this year. It will be better reading yet, after congress meets, when keen John Sherman, the brilliant Evarts and sturdy John Logan, begin to dust the coats of Cleveland's cabinet, and ask them questions hard to answer. The Tribune has the space for ample reports of proceedings in congress; it has a special wire from Washington; and the signal ability with which the paper is edited insures accuracy, and guarantees that no good points will be missed. The weekly Tribune is one of the best papers for farmers, and for those who want the spirit of the metropolitan press, that is printed.

David B. Hill is doing well so far. He has climbed the first two rungs of the ladder. He has been mayor of Elmira and he is governor of New York. Now let's all watch and see him spring for the third.—Hartford Courant.

It is not improbable that Governor Hill will try to make a spring for the third rung of the ladder, as some of the democratic papers in New York are engaged in laying the foundation for his candidacy in '88. These papers are already producing arguments to show that President Cleveland will not be in the race for a second term, and reproduces a portion of his letter of acceptance to substantiate their position. The Rochester Union supports Hill for the democratic standard bearer in 1888, and disposes of Cleveland in this fashion: "He is unequivocally committed as a matter of principle and public policy, against a second term," and then assures its readers that the president will decline a renomination. But the Union must remember that promises, and letters of acceptances written to tickle the public ear, many times stand for nothing, and it is very probable that should President Cleveland find favor of the democratic leaders during his term, and wins the support of the mass of the democratic party, he will go before the convention as a candidate for renomination.

It seems that Joe Mackin, the democratic ballot box stuffer and perjurer, is getting very near Joliet. The criminal court of Chicago found him guilty, but his case was then taken to the supreme court, and on Saturday a decision was rendered which found the indictment against him proper, and that in no respects did the court below make an error. This is as it should be. Men who try by criminal practices to thwart the will of the people at an election, should be punished to the fullest extent of the law. This should apply to every political criminal, no matter to what party he belongs. There is nothing that will purify elections so readily and thoroughly as the prompt and just punishment of those who attempt to tamper with the votes of the people. Let Mackin go to Joliet, and the better element in both parties will rejoice over this act of justice. At the last senatorial election in Chicago, a large number of spurious tickets were printed and cast for Rudolph Brand, democrat, for state senator. Mackin, for this crime, was sentenced in the United States court to two years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $5,000. This case was appealed to the supreme court, where it is pending. He was next indicted by the state grand jury for swearing he had not ordered nor received the spurious tickets. For this crime he was sentenced to Joliet for five years, and it seems that he will have to pay the penalty.

APPEAL TO THE SWORD

MILAN, KING OF SERVIA, UNLOOSES THE WAR-DOGS,

And Alexander, of Bulgaria, Replies Defiantly—Plains Kindled Whose Limits Can Not Be Predicted — Alexander Calls on the Sultan.

BULGRADE, Nov. 16.—The result of Bulgarian-Roumelian revolution is war at last. On Saturday King Milan informed the powers that Servia had declared war against Bulgaria because the troops of that country attacked a position which the Moravia division of the Servian army held in their own territory opposite the Bulgarian frontier. The king has also issued a proclamation which states that Servia can not allow Bulgaria, which country has already proved a bad neighbor, to disturb the balance of power in the Balkans to her exclusive advantage. It is also claimed that revolutionary proclamations were being distributed in the Servian dominions by rebels acting on behalf of Bulgaria. King Milan also alludes to the alledged ill treatment of Servian emigrants in Bulgaria, the blockade of the frontier and alleged attacks by Bulgarian volunteers on the Servian people and troops. In conclusion the king says: "I cannot suffer these international provocations, and I therefore adopt the policy of open hostility, which has been forced upon me by Bulgaria. Servia's just cause now rests on the arbitrament of arms and the bravery of her army. I rely upon my people's patriotism."

A Sofia Dispatch says: Prince Alexander, of Bulgaria, in a proclamation to the officers and men of his army, says: "King Milan has declared war against us, and has ordered the Servian army to invade Bulgaria. Our Servian brethren, instead of assisting us, wish to ruin your country. Show your courage now, and defend your mothers, wives, sisters and homes! Pursue and annihilate the cowardly, treacherous enemy! Let 'Forward' be your battle cry, brethren, and may God aid us and grant us victory." Great excitement and enthusiasm prevails at Philippopolis, the capital of eastern Roumelia or southern Bulgaria, according to the new order of things. Troops are being hurried forward to the defense of Sofia, and the war fever, which had recently died out, is again burning with intensity.

A skirmish has taken place near Vlassina between Bulgarian and Servian troops. Eleven men were killed and twenty wounded. The Bulgarians have retired from Iru, Isaribrod, Klissuria and Bregavo. The Servians have captured Iru and occupied the heights behind the city. They commenced operations by a vigorous attack on the Bulgarian position at Bowskodol.

Descending from the heights of Dastcheni and Kladonetz, they occupied the Bulgarian villages of Miloslawtzi, Zalone, Gard and Zvontzi in the Iru district. They met with no opposition. No serious action has yet occurred. Bulgarian troops have left for the frontier, while others are advancing by forced marches from eastern Roumelia.

SOFIA, Nov. 16.—Prince Alexander has returned here from Philippopolis. He arrived at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, and was received with the greatest enthusiasm by thousands of people who crowded the streets and cheered themselves hoarse. The Bulgarian government has formally petitioned the sultan to assist in repelling Servian invasion of Bulgarian territory. One of the grounds upon which the petition is based is that Servia admits and pretends to respect the rights of Turkey in Bulgaria.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The Standard says: "The flame of war has been kindled in the Balkans. We see the beginning, but no human intelligence can pretend to set the limits of its area, or foresee the intensity of the fire."

VIENNA, Nov. 16.—It is reported that the Servians have captured the town of Adlich-Kula. The Bulgarian troops are suffering greatly from cold, especially by night, because of inadequate clothing and blankets.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Six battalions of Servian infantry, two batteries of artillery, and two squadrons of cavalry attacked two battalions of regular and irregular Bulgarian troops Sunday. The Bulgarians lost thirty-four killed and wounded.

Servia has 170,000 men on the soil of Bulgaria, marching upon Sofia in three divisions, expecting to concentrate on Sunday next. King Milan accompanies the central army. The forces of Bulgaria and Eastern Roumelia aggregate 124,000 men. The first decisive battle is expected to take place at the gorge of the Dragoman defile. The roads are covered with snow.

Russian newspapers declare that the czar can not permit Bulgaria and Servia to tear each other to pieces. The sultan has contracted with a steamship line for the transportation of thirty more battalions from Asia Minor to European Turkey. England has assured the porte of her intention to do her utmost to preserve the integrity of Turkey.

He Had Been Drinking.

PEORIA, Ills., Nov. 16.—Edward Campbell, a coal miner living in this city, was instantly killed Sunday evening while chasing his 11-year-old daughter for the purpose of chastising her. He had been drinking, and sent the little girl after whisky, and when she returned after a rather long absence he made a threatening motion at her, when she fled along the side of a deep ravine. Campbell lost his footing while pursuing and tumbled from the top to the bottom of the ditch, a distance of from sixty to seventy feet. His death was instantaneous. He leaves a wife and four children.

A Jealous Husband's Drunken Crime.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 16.—Saturday night George T. Harmon, aged 33, shot and instantly killed Wesley Carpenter, aged 17, about twelve miles south of here. Carpenter is half-witted, and had been making his home with Harmon. Reports of undue intimacy between the boy and Mrs. Harmon caused the husband to commit the murder. He also endeavored to kill his wife, but as he was intoxicated she managed to escape. The murderer was arrested.

Brutal Murder in Boston.

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—Thomas Carroll, a laborer, living in the Highlands, went home at midnight Saturday night very drunk and was taken to task by his wife. Hot words ensued between them. Mrs. Carroll arose from her bed for some purpose, whereupon Carroll deliberately choked her to death and violently kicked the dead body. The affair was witnessed by two women who had been attracted to the scene by the loud words. Carroll was arrested.

The First Gun in Burmah.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A dispatch from Rangoon says that the British armed launches Kathleen and Irrawaddy, under cover of Cutterbuck fort Saturday, engaged and after a sharp fight captured one of King Theebaw's war vessels. One British officer was wounded.

They Will Surely Find You.

They are looking for you everywhere. Drafts of air in unexpected places, going from hot rooms to cold ones, carelessness in changing clothing. In short anything which ends in a common cold in the head. Unless arrested this kind of cold becomes seated in the mucous membrane of the head. Then it is catarrh. In any and all its stages this disease always yields to Ely's Cream Balm. Safe, agreeable, certain. Price 50 cents.

Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. 25c. a bottle.

JUDGE VINCENT'S STATEMENT.

Why He Appointed Dorsey—An Appeal for Fair Play.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 16.—On the 7th of this month, before leaving the city ex Chief Justice Vincent, of New Mexico, sent to President Cleveland a letter giving a detailed account of the circumstances connected with his appointment and suspension from the office of chief justice of that territory. He stated that he had not solicited the appointment, but had been put forward while he was absent from New Mexico on a trip to Europe, by the bar of the First judicial district of the territory, and the delegate from the territory. He then recounts the history of his suspension, its suddenness and the fact that there is absolutely no charge on file against him except the one relating to his appointment of Stephen W. Dorsey as a jury commissioner. He explains this appointment by saying that Mr. Dorsey's action could have no possible influence upon any suit that could arise under the laws of the United States, it being confined exclusively to local criminal matters. The appointment was made at the suggestion of the territorial attorney general and prominent citizens, because the criminal docket of the county was full of cases arising from the difficulties between sheep and cattle herders regarding the use of the ranges, and Mr. Dorsey was greatly interested therein and had been a powerful peacemaker, having succeeded in bringing about a sort of armistice between the contending factions, and it was urged on all hands that his appointment would tend to the establishment of peace and good order.

Judge Vincent says: "In appointing Mr. Dorsey, it did not occur to me that the fact would have any effect upon national politics or the general policie of your administration. This view of the case never entered my mind; the preservation of the peace and good order of the community was alone considered." He adds that no other motive actuated him and that it is cruel to attribute any dishonest purpose to him in that connection; that since his suspension every lawyer in his district has petitioned the president for his restoration and that also the clergy of Las Vegas have unanimously united in a request for his restoration to office. He says his suspension is a serious blow at the independence of the judiciary, that the framers of the constitution had provided a life tenure to judges to enable them to decide the laws without fear of a removal—without a secure tenure the judges will become mere time-servers. He appeals to the president to give a searching investigation to his conduct, whether as a citizen or judge, through agents of his own choosing, and after such investigation, if he should be satisfied, as he must be, that he has been true to the sacred trust confided to him, he will do him that justice which he alone can do, and which his sense of justice and fair dealing will dictate.

Of the Best Quality.

We desire to build up a home trade in

Buckwheat Flour,

And we guarantee that all Buckwheat Flour sold from these mills shall be made from Pure Buckwheat, and shall contain no other ingredient.

Our Graham Flour

Is made from thoroughly cleaned, Choice, White Winter Wheat. Graham Flour takes its name from Sylvester Graham, the author of a noted treatise on "Bread and Bread Making." It is conceded that bread made from unbolted or Graham Flour, is more healthful and nutritious than fine, white bolted flour, for the reason that it contains more of the gluten, from which the flesh, bone, brain and tissue of the body is built up and sustained.

The purest and most beautiful bread comes upon the tables of the critical American, contains less of the elements of

STRENGTH, HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Than the dark colored rye bread in Germany, or the heavy loaves found in the knap-sacks of the Russian soldier. Graham bread made from good, clean wheat is very excellent and healthful food. We propose to make and sell this kind of flour.

Corn Meal.

as a staple article of diet in the Eastern and Southern States, and should be more generally used here. Is there a Yankee on the face of the earth, who has wandered so far from the hills of New England, that he has forgotten the baked pork and beans, the rye and the Indian meal bread, or the baked Indian pudding with which his heart and stomach were gladdened during the days of his boyhood. Hoe cake, Johnny cake, mush and milk, corn meal gems, and Indian meal puddings, with pork and bacon, were main articles of diet for the sturdy men and women who subdued and built up the older States of the Union. We offer to the trade, and families, both the bolted and granulated Corn Meal.

Especial attention is called to our

Minnesota Linseed Meal

It is excellent for dairy stock, and horses, when fed with other grain.

A FRIGHTFUL DEATH.

TEN MEN MEET THEIR DOOM IN THE MINE'S DEPTHS.

An Explosion of Giant Powder Sets the Shaft on Fire and Suffocation Does Its Fatal Work—Particulars and Victims' Names.

SILVER CLIFF, Colo., Nov. 16.—Friday evening at 7 o'clock a box of giant-powder in the boiler-room at the Bull Domingo exploded and set fire to the building and in a few minutes the entire shaft-house and hoisting-works were burned to the ground. The mine timbers were set on fire and twelve men who were at work on the lower levels were in great peril.

Hundreds of men went to the scene of the conflagration from here, taking ropes and other appliances to be used in trying to extricate the poor fellows from below. Among the victims was first believed to be Superintendent Foss, but he was not hurt. The engineer and several others in the building at the time were slightly injured, but none seriously. All the debris was removed from around the mouth of the shaft and the fire of the timbers of the shaft extinguished. Foreman Armstrong was let down by ropes into the mine to the 550 foot level and found ten men all dead. Five of them had climbed eighteen feet from the bottom of the shaft to a drift, and their dead bodies were found in the mouth of the drift. The other five had died at the drills in the face of the drift.

The following men are in the mine: Con Nourse, H. Westfall, Elmer Holster, D. W. Patton, N. Degrossiier, M. Lapoint, John Laube, George Smith, William Strong, and Marcus Babista.

The removal of the dead miners began at 6 o'clock Saturday night, the last being brought to the surface about midnight. Robert McGregor and Tom Armstrong alternated in going down, a rope being attached to pulleys to let the brave men into the shaft. A corpse was bound to the rope, and then the guide stood with his foot in the loop, both arms encircling the dead body, which was brought to the surface by a steady pull of scores of men.

Westfall and Laube left short letters, the former to his sister, assigning his insurance in the A. O. U. W. to his sister and two orphan nieces; the latter wrote to his parents and wife. Determined threats of lynching H. W. Foss, the superintendent, were indulged in, and no doubt would have been put into effect had not prominent citizens gone to the mine and induced the infuriated relatives and friends of the dead to stay their rash intentions until the fact could be settled that Foss deserved such a fate.

It seems that the fire originated in the roof of the building, and a portion of the burning roof fell into the boiler-room on the giant-powder, which exploded, bursting a hole in the boiler and dislocating the machinery so that everything stopped at once; but the men could have been drawn from the mine if the machinery could have been kept running, notwithstanding the building was on fire.

Engineer Chamberlin was standing at his engine trying to make it work when surrounded by flames, and was carried away by force by friends.

MAKING WAR ON MITCHELL.

An Oregon Paper Publishes Grave Charges Against a Senatorial Candidate.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 16. — John H. Mitchell having come out publicly as a candidate for United State senator, The Oregonian Saturday published chapters in his career which are given to the public for the first time. It prints a letter written by Mitchell in 1870-71 to Carrie Price, sister of his wife, making love to her in the most ardent manner, and promising if she remained true to him that he would get a divorce from his wife and marry her. The Oregonian repeats the charges made two years ago, when Mitchell was a candidate, that he received bribes while he was a United States senator, and urges Mitchell to sue it for libel so that it may prove the charges in court. The publication creates no little sensation throughout the state. What effect it will have on members of the legislature remains to be seen, and will not be developed till the first ballot, which takes place Tuesday.

The legislature adjourned Saturday until Monday at 2 p. m. The only pronounced candidates thus far are ex-Senator G. H. Williams and Mitchell. Those opposed to Mitchell assert positively that he can not be elected, though strong effort, they think, will be made to induce Democrats to vote for him. It seems settled that Republicans will not go into caucus on the senatorial question.

Mr. Mitchell declares that the letter is a forgery and a blackmailing scheme.

Help Wanted for Galveston.

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 16.—Twenty thousand dollars has been expended in relieving the families burned out in the recent great fire here. Two hundred heads of families have been listed as worthy of charitable relief. Every homeless family has been temporarily but comfortably sheltered. The total amount thus far subscribed to the relief fund from all sources is $60,000. C. P. Huntington has given $5,000, and several other subscriptions ranging from $1,000 to $500 have been received. Many generous private gifts have been reported. The telegrams sent out that no help is needed is considered a mistake and it is now said that all the help the charitable are disposed to give will be thankfully received.

Arraigned for the Preller Murder.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 16.—Hugh M. Brooks, alias W. H. Lennox Maxwell, was arraigned Saturday for the murder of Charles Arthur Preller at the Southern hotel April 5, 1885. The indictment contains three counts, alleging the murder was by poison, by smothering in the trunk, and by "some means, devices and weapons unknown." Brooks pleaded not guilty. His attorney filed a petition to discharge the prisoner, alleging that the original information was not sworn to, and consequently his arrest was illegal. The motion was taken under advisement and the examination was continued until Monday.

Bracing Up the Treasury Clerks.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 16.—An order issued by Secretary Manning, Friday, requiring reports of clerks who reach their offices late in the morning, is having the desired effect. Friday morning more than 200 clerks were tardy in reporting for duty, while Saturday but twenty-five were late.

A Walking Skeleton.

Mr. E. Springer, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., writes: "I was afflicted with lung fever and abscess on lungs, and reduced to a walking Skeleton. Got a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which did me so much good that I bought a dollar bottle. After using three bottles, found myself once more a man, completely restored to health, with a hearty appetite, and a gain in flesh of 48 pounds." Call at F. Sherer & Co's Drug Store and get a bottle of this certain cure for all Lung Diseases. Large bottles $1.00.

NOOSES FOR THREE.

Chicago Experiences an Unusual Sensation in Hanging.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Giovanni Azzari, Ignazio Sylvestri, and Agostino Gilardi, the convicted murderers of Filipo Caruso, were simultaneously executed on the gallows Saturday, the drop falling at twelve minutes past noon. From an early hour in the forenoon a considerable crowd gathered in front of the criminal court building, through which all had to pass who wished to enter the jail, but none were admitted who could not show a permit from Sheriff Hanchett. The doomed men up to the minute when they were conducted to the scaffold, were kept secluded in the jail library, where, after waking from their night's sleep, apparently a sound one, they were attended by Father Morretti and two other priests connected with the Italian Roman Catholic church of this city, who administered religious consolation and the rites of the church to them up to the time of their last minute on earth.

By half-past 11 o'clock the corridor of the jail and the three balconies looking down upon it were as densely packed as 1,000 people could pack them. Taking 1,000 as a basis, 990 were men. The complement was Miss Kate Kane, the attorney for Azzari, who occupied a position on the first balcony, almost directly over the scaffold. Her sad, calm face attracted as much attention as the victims.

Shortly before 12 o'clock the procession started from the library for the scaffold headed by Sheriff Hanchett. Upon arrival at the scaffold Silvestri's face bore a look of resignation. Azzari's expression was one of desperation—he was a typical brigand. Gelardi, the most intelligent and humane of the three, showed more indications of feeling, but he also illustrated, to a greater degree than the others, the manly power of intelligent self-control. The spiritual advisers were constantly by the side of their charges, speaking words of consolation, placing the crucifix to their lips, and nerving them to the final ordeal. In a few moments the victims arose and stood erect; their hands were manacled, the straps were buckled, the shrouds were put on, and then the white caps shut out the world. The nooses were adjusted, the signal given, and then—the drop.

Three bodies clad in white were dangling and swaying. Gelardi never moved a muscle. Silvestri gave two or three convulsive twitches and was still. Azzari, the head devil in the devilish conspiracy, struggled for several minutes, and the general impression was that he was dying by strangulation. Dr. Bluthardt and other medical gentlemen present soon dispelled this idea. They found on examination that the necks of all had been broken by the fall.

The crime for which they were hanged was the murder, some months ago, of Filipo Caruso, whom they decoyed into a room on pretense of shaving him and while he was in the chair strangled him with a rope, afterward packing his body in a trunk which they shipped to Pittsburg. The murder was committed for money.

NINETEENTH CENTURY PROGRESS.

Not Real Except That Developed in the Roman Catholic Church.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 16.—Bishop Ireland, of St. Paul, Minn., preached a remarkable service at St. Martin's Catholic church Sunday morning, in the presence of Archbishop Gibbons, the primate of the church in America; Rev. Dr. O'Connell, rector of the American college at Rome, and an immense congregation. The object of the sermon was to show that the progress of the nineteenth century outside of the Catholic church; was not real progress, because it ended, in its benefits to mankind; at the grave; it was directed to the temporal, and not to the eternal happiness of man. There could be no real progress unless Christianity were the foundation, and the glorification of God the aim. The ideal men and women were those who were taught, and who practiced, Catholic principles and teachings. There were fragments of Christianity outside of the Catholic church, but true Christianity, and therefore true progress, was to be found only within her teachings.

In the course of further remarks, Bishop Ireland said that the Catholic church was known to the people of America (referring, of course, to those outside of the church) not by those who were a credit and an honor to her, but by those who disgraced her. He exhorted all good Catholics to spread out the influence, and to disseminate the truths and the teachings of the church. The plenary council which recently honored Baltimore with its sitting, he said, advocated this.

"It is our intention," said the bishop, "to erect a national Catholic university right in the heart of the republic, at the seat of the national government, where all can look up and see what the Catholic church is doing for the advancement of science, literature and humanity, and the light and luster that she is shedding all over Christendom and the world."

He then concluded thus: "Oh! free America! wherein we breathe the air of liberty; Oh! Free republic of which we are so justly proud; may'st thou recognize in the Catholic church, principles which will surely preserve your free institutions, and may the bonds of union between the church and the country never be severed."

Their Secrets Died with Them.

BOSTON, Nov. 16.—Michael Lafferty, to whom Frank Mitchel is supposed to have made some disclosures concerning the Charles river sack tragedy, and who was one of the governments' most important witnesses, died last week. Near his end he acted as though he desired to make an important statement bearing on the case, but soon became unconscious and died without speaking.

Mrs. Cullen, whose husband was murdered by John Coffey last August, and who was the most important witness of the government, also died last week. Ever since the murder she appeared heart-broken, and in a few weeks was taken down with typhoid fever.

Social Matters at the White House.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 16.—Miss Cleveland has returned to the White House. She has not been engaged in literary pursuits, as has been so frequently asserted this summer. She has simply been spending the summer quietly at her home in Oneida county, New York, and returns much refreshed to resume the social duties at the White House. Mrs. Hoyt is still here. It is not known how much longer she will remain, but it is probable that she will soon return to her home.

Is This a Free Country, After All?

LOWELL, Mass., Nov. 16.—The Salvation Army held a public immersion exercise on the Merrimac river, Sunday. Eleven candidates were escorted through the streets in a wagon followed by 10,000 people who sat on the bank during the ceremony and stoned the converts as they waded out of the river.

The Renewal of Vigor.

The most important step in this process is the restoration of the functions of digestion and assimilation to full and uninterrupted exercise, since it is upon their activity alone that the system can depend to replenish its dwindling store of energies. Among tonics which the voice of the people and high professional indorsement approve as reliable, Hostetter's Stomach bitters has long been recognized as the best. Its properties as a medicated stimulant commend it to all persons suffering from the effects of fatigue, mental or bodily, as an immediate means of counteracting their effects; and in cases where loss of vigor is attributable to such weakening chronic causes as dyspepsia, affections of the kidneys and bladder, and the infirmities peculiar to age, it produces permanently beneficial results. Those twin obstacles to health and vigor, liver complaint and constipation, are also removed by it. It also prevents and cures malarial disease.

Ask Prentice & Evenson about Acker's Blood Elixir, the only preparation guaranteed to cleanse the blood and remove all chronic diseases.

The best on earth can be truly said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure, safe and speedy cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter and all skin eruptions. Try this wonderful healer. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. Druggists.

IT WAS THE CAT.

PUSSY JOINS THE DYNAMITERS WITH DESTRUCTIVE RESULTS.

An Explosion That Blew a Pretty Cottage to Atoms Caused by a Feline Investigation, Who Loses a Family Thereby.

AUBURN, Ills., Nov. 16.—Albert Jones, an experimental and progressive farmer, was until last Sunday afternoon the owner of one of the prettiest residences of Clark county. When he accompanied his family on a neighborly visit, after luncheon, he committed the premises to the keeping of a playful cat and a litter of kittens, forgetting that cats are not familiar with the uses and abuses of nitro-glycerine. About 3 o'clock a shock and thundering detonation alarmed the village. An hour later, while the amazed townspeople were bewildered by speculation and doubt, a messenger arrived from Mr. Jones' home, two miles distant, bearing the news that the house had been blown into atoms through some mysterious agency, and that inasmuch as the family could not be found it was presumed to have perished in the explosion. Soon after the excited people began to arrive upon the scene, however. Mr. Jones, together with his wife and children, put in an appearance.

The house and contents were scattered in fragments over an area 500 yards square. Half the original height of the four walls were left standing, with a saw-tooth and splintered fringe all around the irregular top of the oblong. Two beds were found several hundred yards apart, one in the road in front of the house. A sewing machine was buried head first in the flower-garden, and broken chairs, tables, pictures, dishes, and wearing apparel, and various household articles were strewn about the place.

It was difficult at first to imagine any reasonable cause for the disaster. Last week Mr. Jones procured a can of nitro-glycerine for the purpose of experimenting on obstinate stumps which had successfully resisted the customary assault. This he placed alongside the nursery box of the family tabby. Near by stood a table occupied by books, plaything, sewing utensils, and the like. The cat, being playfully disposed, often leaped upon the table and forgot her maternal anxieties in a gay revel with a ball of yarn or any other pliable thing that caught her juggling fancy.

While Mr. Jones and a circle of friends were viewing the wreck, wondering how under the sun the nitro-glycerine could have been exploded, a faint, sickly "me-ow-yow" was heard. It was repeated, and, with a favoring breeze, was finally wafted from the top of an elm tree about fifty feet away. Perched in one of the upper limbs the family cat was discovered. A small boy climbed up and extricated her. An examination revealed the fact that her right fore leg was broken, but she had suffered no further injury. The kittens were all killed. Mr. Jones at once concluded that while Tabby was disporting herself on the table she jostled to the floor some object sufficiently heavy to cause a concussion, and that the explosion resulted. The loss is about $2,000.

Riel's Fate Seems To Be Settled.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 16.—The special messenger with the governor general's warrant for the execution of Riel probably reached Regina Monday morning. All the preparations for the execution have been completed. Riel was made aware some days ago that the sentence of the court would be carried into effect on Monday. After the first reprieve he got it into his head that he would be sent to the penitentiary, and his spiritual advisers could do nothing with him, his manner becoming insolent and at the same time exceedingly offensive. But when the news was broken to him on the 9th inst. that he must prepare for death he sobered down. It may be well to add that none of the alleged interviews said to have been held with him lately ever took place, and the correspondents of certain American and Canadian papers have been running a bogus news bureau for weeks back.

LATER.—Sherwood, the chief of the Dominion police at Ottawa, made his appearance here Sunday morning, bearing the governor general's warrant for the execution of Louis Riel, and proceeded by special train to Regina, where he arrived at 8 o'clock at night. The famous rebel has been officially informed that he will be hanged at 9 o'clock Monday morning. The French Conservative members of the Canadian parliament hold a secret meeting in Quebec. They threaten to burn in the streets an effigy of a French cabinet minister.

He Dreaded Exposure.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 16.—Col. Joseph Bruff committed suicide at Damascus, this county, Friday night, the body being found on the grave of his son and a bullet through his head. Through the confidence reposed in him he was placed in charge of many estates through the county, but became financially involved. He was notified to appear in the probate court Saturday and answer in two estates in which he had received a large amount of money and had failed to make a settlement. Dreading exposure he took his life. He was 60 years old, for many years a prominent Republican politician, and served one term in the state legislature.

Killed by a Railway Accident.

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, Nov. 16.—A Chicago & Northwestern stock train running at the rate of forty miles an hour, collided with a wild train in the yard at Montour, twelve miles east of this city, Sunday night. Engineer Mike Hagan of the stock train jumped against a switch and was killed. Fireman Monroe was badly hurt. Both men live at Boone. Eight cars of hogs and one of cattle were destroyed. The company's loss is probably $60,000.

Salaries of United States Marshals.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 16.—Judge Durham, first comptroller of the treasury, has decided that each United States marshal is entitled to compensation amounting to $6,000 a year, provided the fees of his office amount to that sum after paying his deputies and other office expenses. Deputy marshals, he decides, are entitled to three-fourths of their earnings after deducting necessary expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties.

CORYDEN, Ind., Nov. 16.—The knights of the switch have again committed a terrible outrage in the village. On Thursday night George Graham, who is alleged to have ill-treated his wife, was taken by force from his house into his yard, where he was stripped and given 150 lashes by the vengeful knights. Many blows were administered after Mr. Graham had fainted. Great excitement prevails.

Cassio had been placed in command, but having disgraced himself in a drunken quarrel, Othello had taken the command from him. Presuming on his long acquaintance with Desdemona, Othello's bride, he repeatedly asked her to intercede, and try to restore him to her husband's good graces. Iago in jealous because Othello has secured a prize he had hoped to win for himself, and while walking in the garden they suddenly come upon Desdemona and Cassio, partly concealed from sight, in one of these interviews. As the latter hear them approaching, Desdemona asks Cassio to stay and meet Othello, and they will urge his suit together; but he declines, and takes his leave of her. Iago discovers them at this moment, and excites Othello's suspicion by exclaiming "Ha! I like not that!"

could express the agony I endured from Rheumatism, and it was all I could do to endure it. Crippled, not able to walk or sleep, I took two-thirds of a bottle of ATHLOPHOROS and in a few days was well." T. E. CHATFIELD, 365 12th Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.

Such is the universal testimony of all who have used ATHLOPHOROS which is the only remedy for rheumatism that has ever had a successful sale; and it sells because it is a sure, safe, speedy cure. Athlophoros contains no opium or other dangerous or injurious ingredient. It is absolutely safe, and is so pronounced by leading physicians of the country who prescribe it regularly for neuralgia and rheumatism. If you have any doubt as to its merit, write to the manufacturers for names of parties in your own State who have been cured of rheumatism and neuralgia by its use.

Ask your druggist for Athlophoros. If you cannot get it of him we will send it express paid on receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

AT THE CHURCH GATE.

[Thackeray.]

Although I enter not, yet round about the spot
Ofttimes I hover;
And near the sacred gate, with longing eyes I wait,
Expectant of her.

The minster bell tolls out above the city's rout
And noise and humming;
They've hushed the minster bell; the organ 'gins to swell;
She's coming, she's coming!

My lady comes at last, timid, and stepping fast,
And hastening hither
With modest eyes downcast; she comes—she's here—she's past—
May heaven go with her!

Kneel undisturbed, fair saint! Pour out your praise or plaint
Meekly and duly;
I will not enter there to sully your pure prayer
With thoughts unruly.

But suffer me to pace round the forbidden place,
Lingering a minute,
Like outcast spirits who wait and see through heaven's gate
Angels within it.

STUDENTS AS WAITERS.

Swift, Light-Footed, Low-Voiced and Intelligent—Charming Waitresses.

[Elizabeth B. Custer in Chicago Tribune.]

It was some time before I realized that at the Summit house, Fabyan's, Crawford's, and here at the Profile we were waited on by students and teachers from all over New England. I noticed that they were swift, light-footed, low-voiced, and that they noiselessly steered their way down the long dining-room without colliding with each other; but when I learned who they were I began to ask questions, and lost no face that passed me.

The proprietor of one of the hotels told me that his father had first employed them thirty years before; that they never made any trouble, and were in that respect in marked contrast to the "biddies" he employed in the laundry. This very prosaic man sighed when he said, "The worst of it is, after the second year, they will marry." I tried to convince him that in a country whose census proves the unmarried women far outnumber the men he ought to consider himself a public benefactor for acting as the fairy godmother and furnishing the prince to the forlorn maiden.

The very bouquets on the dining-room table gave evidence of refined taste. The dining-room ceilings were hung with garlands of evergreen and rustic baskets of feathery ferns. This made a delicate canopy over the heads of the waitresses, who were dressed in white gowns, and our dinners, thus served, seemed doubly attractive. When a gentle-voiced girl leaned over me and asked if I would have Irish or sweet potatoes I not only forgot to answer, but fell to thinking it was no wonder men proposed to such girls the second year, in spite of the opposition of the proprietor.

If they sit in the halls in the afternoon or evening on duty as waiting-chambermaids they read, embroidered, or wrote. A few college men were scattered through the dining-room as waiters. I thought what strength of mind it required to take a menial position to earn money for an education, and felt that, if I were a man, I would rather pound stones on a highway than don a waiter's apron and fetch and carry. Still, the wages—$5 a week is the lowest—and the "tips" send them home with goodly sums. Another proof that if one respects himself it is very apt to command respect in others is the fact that they are rarely spoken to roughly. One of the waitresses told me she was always treated with courtesy.

Ornaments Made from Slag.

[Denver Tribune-Republican.]

"What is slag?" asked a reporter of a dealer in that city.

"It is the refuse matter which remains from the gold and silver after the ores have been run through the smelter," answered the dealer. "You see, it is an imitation of Irish glass, and a very good imitation, too. The idea was that slag, produced as it was from refuse ores, would contain various colors. The principle used in making slag-ware is the same as that employed in making plate glass. The foundation of plate glass is lead, and the foundation of slag-ware is slag and glass. We take the slag and prepare it so it will fuse or melt with glass at the same temperature. Slag in itself requires greater heat to melt it than does ordinary glass. The secret of fusing slag and glass together consists in melting slag and running it while hot into an agitated water charged with chemicals. This process produces slag sand. We take this sand and mix it with ordinary glass, after which it is melted and into various shapes. We have copied antique shapes entirely so far, but if the rage for it continues I shall introduce more modern shapes to diversify the styles."

Time tried and true is Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, which combines the good qualities of all the best cough remedies without the defects of any of them. It cures promptly and permanently coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, influenza, bronchitis, hoarseness, incipient consumption, and all throat and lung diseases, healing the lungs. Safe and pleasant for children. Price 50 cents and $1.

LOOKS LIKE MACKIN MUST GO.

The Illinois Supreme Court Upholds His Sentence to the Penitentiary.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—A telegram was received in this city Saturday evening announcing that the state supreme court had decided the celebrated Mackin case, and affirmed the result of the trial here, by which Mackin was sentenced to the penitentiary for five years. The supreme court declares in an elaborate opinion that the points raised by the defense are not good; that the perjury was sufficiently proved, and that no error of sufficient importance to warrant a reversal of the judgment of the lower court was presented to the supreme court's notice. The concluding clause of the opinion is: "Every phase of this case and every point made for a reversal have been most carefully and patiently considered and no error has been discovered, nor has any been pointed out of sufficient gravity to warrant the reversal of the judgment affirmed."

When the announcement was made here of this issue of the case, many of Mackin's friends repaired to the jail to see what he thought about it, and among the first was Mrs. Mackin, with whom Mackin was allowed to hold a conference in the sheriff's office. Mrs. Mackin broke down completely under the news, and cried and clung to her husband in a manner which was touchingly affecting, and considerably discomposed the other visitors who had arrived and were fortunate enough to be admitted. After Mrs. Mackin, "Parson" Davies was the first upon the scene. Then came M. C. McDonald, Dennis Kavanaugh, W. J. Gallagher, who heard the news after he had gone home; John C. Richberg, Mackin's attorney since the death of Mr. Storrs, and a large number of other friends upon consolatory missions. Mackin allowed no long interviews with anybody, not even his wife. He received the news of his defeat in a stoical manner and seemed determined not to break down under any affliction which came upon him.

"I am not being prosecuted, but persecuted," said Mackin when "Parson" Davies went to see him. "My enemies have done all they can for me now. Let them get what satisfaction from it they may. If the court has said that I must go to prison I will take my medicine gracefully. There is no use in kicking against the pricks."

"As to what we will now do," said Mr. Richburg, Mackin's attorney, "I do not care to state. The present decision, however, will not be considered as final. I could have no definite talk with Mr. Mackin to-night on the subject, on account of the presence and grief of his wife, which was too sacred to be interfered with, but within a few days we will talk the matter over and decide upon some plan of action."

LATER.—One of the few persons admitted to the presence of Joe Mackin in the jail Sunday was his attorney, John C. Richberg, with whom he had a conference lasting for some hours. M. C. McDonald was present. At his home Sunday evening Mr. Richberg said to a Herald reporter that he would as soon as possible give notice of a demand for a rehearing of the case. The application must be made within fifteen days, and a petition for the rehearing of the case filed within thirty days. Mr. Richberg insists that the supreme court has misconstrued the testimony as to perjury, and that perjury was not legally proven. He thinks a rehearing should be had and that there is a probability of obtaining it.

The Etruria Was Ten Hours Ahead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Great interest has been felt for same days in the result of the ocean race between the Etruria, of the Cunard line, and the Alaska, of the Guion line. The Etruria left Queenstown on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 7, at 2 o'clock, and a few minutes later the Alaska followed. The Cunarder arrived outside of Sandy Hook bar at 4 o'clock Sunday morning, and at 2 p. m., ten hours and fifteen minutes later, the Alaska dropped anchor outside the Sandy Hook bar. Officers of the ships deny that there was any attempt at racing.

Burned the Whole Block.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Austin, a small village in the township of Cicero, this county, suffered a bad fire, Saturday. Flames broke out in the Giles block, about 2:30 in the morning, and the block, with the skating rink adjoining, was burned to the ground. The total loss will reach $60,000.

A Journalistic Joke.

[Brooklyn Eagle.]

Some years ago a clever journalist of New York amused himself by making fun of a good-natured shoemaker. Wherever a list of names appeared in the morning paper behold the shoemaker's name was among them, whether it was a reception at Mrs. Astor's or a dog-fight in Hoboken. The shoemaker at that time had a little shop in a cellar up-town. He has now a large establishment down-town, is a promising politician and is known all over New York. He was shrewd enough to take the fun in good part and to go about as much as possible, so as to give some semblance of truth to the journalist's joke.

CONDENSED NEWS.

A drama taken from Emil Zola's "Germinal" was interdicted in Paris lately because it reflected upon the efficiency of the police.

A Quartz-mill near Negaunee, Mich., has within the past year produced $25,000 worth of gold and silver, at a running expense of $15,000.

Col. R. G. Ingersoll has sold his residence and furniture in Washington to Andrew B. McCreary, a California millionaire, for $45,000.

Commissioner Atkins has just returned from a visit to nearly all the Indian tribes in the southwest, which he found in good circumstances.

Rev. Dr. Clinton Locke, of Chicago, has been requested by a clergyman of Galveston to receive contributions for the sufferers by fire in that city.

John Goodyear, a Philadelphia lad 13 years of age, killed himself with rat poison because he had wasted a week's wages in dissipation and feared disgrace.

John V. Suydam, who died Saturday at Green Bay, was the publisher of the first newspaper in the territory of Wisconsin, having resided there since 1829.

Anderson Burres, a full-blooded Choctaw, who murdered his wife, was shot dead Saturday by the sheriff at Atoka, I. T., in strict accordance with the sentence of the court.

In fitting up an old mansion in Washington, Mrs. Logan secured a sofa once owned by John Slidell, a dressing-case used by James Buchanan, and a lamp-stand which once belonged to Henry Clay.

Twelve members of the bar of Tuscarawas county, Ohio, united in a letter to Judge John S. Pearce, requesting his resignation on account of personal insults and extreme nervousness. The judge proposes to hold the fort.

Schelling, the coachman who last year married Miss Morosini, is a substitute conductor on the Sixth avenue road, in New York. His wife appears nightly in a ballet corps, but gets no recognition from her father.

Eminent Clergymen in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Rev. H. W. Beecher preached at Centenary Methodist church, in this city, Sunday. His sermon was in his best vein, and was on the subject of the transfiguration. No novel doctrine was suggested.

Archdeacon Farrar, of London, preached in Trinity Episcopal church. His subject was: "Duty the Best Guide." Both gentlemen had very large audiences.

British Politics.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Michael Davitt has promised to personally aid Miss Helen Taylor in her contest for the parliamentary seat for Cumberwell. The fine weather during the past week exercised great influence upon political gatherings and probably induced the attendance of more people than did the eloquence of the orators.

Leedom Feels Safe.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 16.—Sergeant-at-arms Ledom has returned to Washington from his home in Ohio. Mr. Leedom, from the assurances he has received from a number of congressmen, feels confident of his re-election as sergeant-at-arms of the house.

The habitual use of pills is a sure means of ultimately undermining health and laying the foundation for some of the most distressing cases of chronic maladies. Use Dr. Jaynes Red Clover Tonic a purely vegetable remedy, which tones and regulates the system enriching the blood. It cures all diseases of the stomach, liver, blood and kidneys. Can be taken by the most delicate. 50 cents.

DEATH OF A MERCHANT PRINCE.

Claflin, the Great New York Dry Goods Man, Passes Away.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Horace B. Claflin died at 3:40 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Fordham, N. Y., his country residence, of paralysis. He was born at Milford, Mass., in 1811, and came to New York in 1843, where he started a dry goods establishment in Cedar street, from which place he removed to West Broadway. Here the firm of H. B. Claflin & Co. has built up an enormous dry goods business, being the largest concern of the kind in the country. At one time they did a business of $77,000,000 yearly. In politics Mr. Claflin was always a stanch Republican until last fall, when he supported Cleveland for the presidency. Two sons survive him—John, who remains in the firm, and Arthur, a broker in Wall street. Mr. Claflin had been in the enjoyment of his customary good health until about two weeks ago, and was out riding on Thursday last. The stroke that ended in his death came suddenly, and medical aid, which was hastily summoned, proved unavailing. Mr. Claflin was one of the original twenty-one trustees of Plymouth church and was an active member of Mr. Beecher's congregation since that clergyman established his home in Brooklyn. He was always noted for his liberality in church matters, and it was customary for him to pay the highest price for a pew of all subscribers to the Plymouth code of doctrines. In business he was regarded as the ideal American merchant. He controlled an enormous trade, and was always to be found attending to it. The funeral will be held from his late residence in Brooklyn, 55 Pierrepont street, at 12 o'clock Tuesday.

Dead Against Reciprocity.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 16.—The Sunday Capital, speaking of diplomatic matters, says: "The senate will not be bothered with any reciprocity treaties this winter, as the administration is dead against them. Mr. Bayard has carefully tucked Minister Foster's Spanish treaty away in a pigeon hole, where it will lie permanently. Congressman Townshend, of Illinois, spent several hours with the president week before last urging the adoption of his plan for a customs union between the American republics, under which there would be free trade among the nations of this hemisphere, and probably the president will give the scheme some attention, but I do not believe he will recommend it."

The Message Well Under Way.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 16.—It is understood that the president has made considerable progress with his annual message to congress. Parts of it, it is said, have been copied on a type-writer and revised, and in the main it will be ready for the printer in a week or ten days time. Commercial relations with foreign countries, the steamship subsidy question, and new vessels for the navy, are questions to which considerable space in it will be devoted.

If You Want to be Happy.

If you want to be happy you must be good,
A maxim all right in its way;
But a far better one, if understood,
Is what I have now got to say.
If you want to be happy you must be well,
Whatever the station you serve in:
And of all the medicines one bears the lead,
The good SAMARITAN NERVINE.

I once tried every sort of cure,
To restore me to good health;
And spent in vain, of that I'm sure,
Considerable share of wealth;
But all was vain, till a friend advised,
In a manner most deserving',
The medicine he most highly prized,
RICHMOND'S SAMARITAN NERVINE.

I took his advice; in one short week,
I felt no further pain;
For doctors no longer I had to seek,
For I never felt sick again.
I'm healthy and happy the whole day long;
So if health be worth preservin',
The constant burden of my song
Is try SAMARITAN NERVINE.

T'will cure the young, t'will heal the old,
T'will wake the whole world better;
At St. Joseph., Missouri, the medicine is sold;
Drop Dr. Richmond a letter:
He'll give you advice far better than wealth,
He'll point out the way to preserve in
The best condition your newly found health,
By the use of SAMARITAN NERVINE.

Customers will not be urged to buy, only to examine my stock and be convinced that they can buy cheaper than elsewhere.

ROBERT GEDDES.

Velvet shawls, heavy and fine, $8.00, old price $12,00, at McKey's.

They Will Go.

Early in October we received from a Boston house 50 men's suits, nice heavy all wool goods for winter wear, 25 sacques and 250 frock suits, size 36 to 42 in regular sizes, and 44 to 50 in the extra sizes. They were bought for an $18. to $20 suit, —$18 for regular and $20 for extra size. On examination we found that they were slightly imperfect, while it did not affect the real value and would not be noticed by any one, at the same time they were not just as ordered. We laid them aside and reported the fact to the makers, since which time we have been negotiating regarding them. We made up our minds if we could buy them so as to be able to offer them at about two-thirds their value, would do so. We have to-day been notified by letter that our terms have been accepted and we will sell the entire lot commencing Friday, Nov. 13, at $12 per suit, including the extra sizes. You had better look at them.

Newton at the rink.

—Council meeting night.

—Newton rides a bicycle at the rink to-morrow evening.

—Regular semi-monthly meeting night of Bower City Temple No. 3, Patriarchal Circle.

—Special meeting of the Business Men's association at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

—No one should fail to see the greates of all bicycle riders at the rink to-morrow evening. Admission 15 cents.

—Crystal Temple of Honor No. 32—regular weekly meeting night—lodge room in the Judd block, North Main street.

—The case of Henderson against the Beloit Water Power Co., was resumed in the Circuit court this morning. Mr. G. A. Hueston, of Beloit, was called as witness and has been on the stand all day.

—If three papers are required by Janesville readers to express the sentiment of the local democracy during the first year of the new administration, how many organs will be necessary to capture the country and the postoffice?

—There was an explosion in one of the rooms over Davies Bros. grocery store Saturday, caused by the ignition of a rubber bag full of highly inflamable gas The furniture was scorched and a woman's hand somewhat burned, but the fire was subdued before any serious damage was done.

—The Guard's annual parties have long held an enviable reputation and this year the boys mean to make that reputation better still. They are putting a great deal of work upon the decorations of the armory and when finished the room will have a very handsome appearance. The tickets will be one dollar.

—Saturday afternoon as Bryant Draper, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Draper, was returning from a ride in the country on a bicycle, his wheel struck a stone and treated him to a "header". He fell with his left arm bent under him and had the misfortune to break that member within a short distance of the elbow The injury is quite serious and it will be some time before he will have the use of that arm.

—The people of Racine are now in the midst of a water works agitation—the people favoring water works appearing, by the tone of the Racine Journal, to be largely in the majority, while this majority is divided on the point of ownership. They are now considering the proposition made by Messrs. Darling and Howland, capitalists, of Boston, Mass., viz., to put in works with 28 miles of pipe, provided the city will take 300 fireplugs at $50 each per annum.

—Mr. Frank Bennett reached the forty-fifth milestone in his journey of life last Saturday, and in celebration of the anniversary a number of his friends surprised him at his home during the evening. Mrs. Bennett was responsible for the party, and it reflected great credit upon her management. During the evening the guests presented their friend with a handsome rocking chair. Before they left they all sat down to a liberal supply of the good things of life, which helped greatly in making an otherwise very pleasant evening exceedingly enjoyable.

—There was a little stir and excitement on Saturday evening, about nine o'clock, caused by Mr. Thomas Burns, horse running away with the U. S. mail wagon. The frisky horse got frightened at the depot while waiting for the arrival of the train, and started down Wall street on a double quick gait. Turning into River street, and then into Milwaukee street, made straight for the post office alleyway, but made such headway, he either did not want to, or could not stop, and continued his flight up the race, and around the bulk head. He was finally captured. No damage.

—The papers of the state are just now resurrecting copies of papers published by the "soldier boys" while in the late war. Mr. John Slightam hands us a copy of the "Camp Record," published by the "members of the First Regiment Wisconsin Volunteers, at Camp Negley, Hagarstown, Maryland, June 27th, 1861." The Record is full of camp news; it gives a telegraphic account of the Bank Riot in Milwaukee; biographical sketches of the officers of the First Regiment; Wisconsin military news; and general news from the the armies of the United States. It is an interesting relic of the early stages of the war for the Union.

—The Angle Worm club have been so fortunate as to secure a swivel gun, which will be tested at long range, at the Thanksgiving turkey shoot. The gun is one hundred years old, is 9 feet long from stem to stem, and weighs 52 pounds, half a pint of powder and a pound of shot is an ordinary load for small game. The last time it was used on one of the lakes near Oshkosh at 120 yards range a flock of ducks numbering 64 were killed outright, the only reason why there were not more killed, was because there was no more in the flock. The relic is the property of Mr. Free Stannard and may be seen at his store on the corn exchange square.

—The song service at Court Street church last evening was enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience. After an anthem by the choir and the singing of a familiar hymn in which the congregation united, the pastor spoke on "music" defining it as not only soul inspiring and elevating, but holding the highest place in the triune list of fine arts. He succeeded in impressing his audience with the fact that the charms of music are wonderful in results, and that sacred song wields a mighty power for good. An interesting history of the authorship of several old hymns, created a new interest in them and caused the audience to render them in a spirit of appreciation. The service throughout was impressive and profitable.

—The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Adalaide McNeil, were held at the home of Mrs. C. B. Willey, in the fourth ward, Rev. W. N. Evans, pastor of Court Street M. E. church, officiating. Mrs. McNeil was highly esteemed in this city, and a large number of friends gathered to pay their last tribute to her memory. A beautiful song service was rendered by a choir composed of Mrs. O. A. Wilson, Miss Jennie Tilton and Mr. William Bladon and Mr. Smith. Besides the customary burial service, Mr. Evans made a few well chosen remarks. Mr. McNeil is a member of the brotherhood of engineers, and the pall bearers, chosen from that body, were Messrs. John Crowley, John Tripp, Harry Ebbets, Fred McLean, John Kay and John Heath. The remains were taken to Oak Hill cemetery for burial.

—Coal gas is a rather uncomfortable room mate, as Mr. John Alvis, an old gentleman living at the corner of Ringgold and Nellie streets, third ward has discovered. He went to bed last night leaving the damper to his coal stove closed and when the fresh coal began to burn a flood of suffocating gas poured out and gradually overpowered Mr. Alvis who was asleep in the next room. This morning Mr. S. L. Miller, of South Main street, called at the house, but found every thing quiet. Mr. Miller suspected that something was wrong and made an entrance into the house by means of a window. He then saw what had happened, and after throwing the house open sent for a doctor. The coal gas had been in the room so long that up to noon Mr. Alvis had not recovered, though the physician does not think it will result fatally.

—The two-mile race at the Riverside rink on Saturday evening was witnessed by a fair sized audience. There were eight contestants; Messrs. Robert Campbell, Sol. Wyler, Frank Brown, Fred Sperry, T. J. Southerly, William Ingles, Albert Schaller and Frank Kelley. Four of the contestants, Albert Schaller, Fred Sperry, Wm. Ingles and Frank Kelley, dropped out before the finish. There was considerable enthusiasm among the spectators during the progress of the race, which was won by Robert Campbell, time, 7:30½; Frank Brown second; Sol. Wyler third; and T. J. Southerly fourth. Mr. Harry McKinney was the time keeper, and Mr. Ora Sutherland the judge. To-morrow evening Wm. Newton, the trick and fancy bicycle rider will make his second appearance at the above popular resort, and all who wish to see the champion wheel rider, should not fail to be present.

Personal.

—Mrs. E. L. Dimock went to Milwaukee this morning for a few days visit among friends.

—Mr. D. D. Wilson has returned home from a pleasant visit at Turner Junction and Chicago.

—Miss Nellie M. Johnson, of Elgin, Ill., is spending a few days with relatives and friends in this city.

—Miss Kate Williams spent Sunday with her relatives in this city, returned to her home in Milwaukee to-day.

—Mr. Frank C. Copeland, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was the guest of his cousin, Mrs. Ogden H. Fethers, at the Myers house yesterday.

—Mrs. John B. Hayes, of the first ward, left to-day for a visit with relatives in Ohio, She will be absent about three weeks.

—Mrs. D. R. Stont and daughter, Miss Della, returned home on Saturday evening from a two-months' visit with relatives and friends in the east.

—Hon. Daniel Johnson, of Evansville, was a welcome caller at the Gazette office this morning. Mr. Johnson is on his way to attend the fat stock show at Chicago.

—Mr. Herbert A. Baker and bride returned home last Saturday evening and are now "at home" at the residence of Mrs. Baker's father, Mr. M. C. Smith, South First street, third ward.

—Mrs. Geo. O. Wright, of Burlington, Ia., is in the city visiting old time friends. Mrs. Wright will be remembered by the old residents of Janesville, as Miss Ada Richardson, daughter of the late A. D. Richardson, who settled in Janesville in 1840. She is the guest of the family of Mr. H. F. Bliss, being a school mate of Mrs. Bliss.

—Dr. and Mrs. S. B. Buckmaster, of the State Hospital for the Insane, at Madison, arrived in the city on Saturday, spending Sunday with Mrs. Buckmaster's parents. Mr. and Mrs. S. Holdredge, South Main street. Dr. Buckmaster returned to the hospital to-day, but his wife will spend some time at the home of her parents.

Re-Organization of the Recorder Printing Company.

The Daily Recorder, of Sunday morning, announces the re-organization of the Recorder Printing company, and publishes the list of officers and directors as follows: T. T. Croft, president; W. D. McKey, vice president; Ber. J. Daly, secretary; W. H. Leonard, treasurer; Clarence L. Clark, business manager. The board of directors being—John Winans, J. B. Whiting, J. W. St. John, Joseph B. Doe, Jr., Alex Richardson,

Following the publication of the above is a double-leaded announcement of the purpose to publish a newspaper in harmony with the principles of the democratic party, and in thorough accord with the administration. The democratic party of this city has for years been deprived of a daily organ, and since the close of the last presidential campaign several efforts have been made looking to the establishment of a democratic daily paper, but for causes best known to those interested, all failed, until the formation of this last syndicate, culminating in the purchase of the Recorder. No one will question the ability of the new company to produce a first class democratic paper. That the paper will succeed there is not a shadow of doubt, as the managers are among our most active and enterprising business men, For the present the editorial management of the paper will be controlled by J. B. Doe, Jr., which is a sufficient guaranty that the political standing of the new organ will be in accord with the democratic party. Mr. Doe gained a reputation as a speaker throughout the state during the campaign last fall, and the field of journalism will doubtless prove attractive and furnish him an opportunity to champion the cause of the party. Mr. Doe possesses the ability and will enjoy the pastime.

The local department of the paper will continue in the hands of Mr. Brand, who has been connected with the paper for several years. The Gazette ardently hopes the new enterprise will meet the approval of its democratic allies.

FOR SALE—Horse, buggy and cart.

J. G. REXFORD.

Two Interesting Papers.

Dr. S, B. Buckmaster, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane, at Madison, has just printed in neat pamphlet form two interesting papers read by him at the meeting of the Wisconsin Medical society, held in Milwaukee, June 3d, 1885 One has the title "Illustrious Insane", and the other "A Case of Mysophobia." In reviewing these papers the State Journal says: "Both are highly interesting, particularly the first named in which are combined many of the most illustrious names of history, the owners of which are credited with having been insane in a greater or less measure. One is surprised as he reads some of the peculiarities of many of the famous men of the world. Saul, King of Israel, who reigned 1,000 B. C., is mentioned as being infested with the evil spirit. King David is credited with feigning madness and Jeremiah, Ezekiel and Nebuchadnezzar, familiar Biblical names, are declared to have been of unsound mind. Some doubt is cast on the sanity of Ulysses, while Socrates himself claimed to have a familiar spirit that advised and guided him. Euripides asserts that Hercules was subject to attacks of insanity, and Sophocles represents that the great Ajax became insane when the arms of Achilles were awarded to his rival Ulysses. The same writer depicts the madness of King Œdipus while the sons of Sophocles accused their father of insanity. Orestes, son of Agamemnon; Athamas, king of Boeotia; Alemæon, who led the Epigoni against Thebes, and Trasylaus, who imagined all the ships entering the port of Athens were his, are all credited with being insane. Cambyses, son of Cyrus the great; Cleomenes, the first Spartan king of that name; Emperor Nero, who fiddled while Rome burned; Caligula, who wished the Roman people had but one head which he might sever at a single blow; Julius Cæsar; Mahomet; Joan of Arc; Martin Luther the great reformer; Pascal, the celebrated French philosopher; John Bunyan, author of Pilgrim's Progress; Sir Isaac Newton, the famous English philosopher and mathematician; Dean Swift, Swedenborg, Jean Jacques Rousseau; Ann Lee, mother of the Shakers; Samuel Johnson, the great English lexicographer; Cowper, who wrote so many humorous poems and letters; Prince Orlof, favorite of the Empress Catherine II. of Russia; Charles Lamb and his sister Mary; Junius Brutus Booth, father of Edwin and John Wilkes, Wenceslaus emperor of Germany and king of Bohemia in the fifteenth century; Charles VI. of France; Henry VI. of France; Joan, once queen of Spain and the Indies. Eric XIV. of Sweden; Christian VII. of Denmark; Maria, queen of Portugal, and George the Third, of England are all mentioned by Dr. Buckmaster either as having been insane or subject to mental alienation. The case of mysophobia, which the doctor refers to, is that of a young woman who is an inmate of the state hospital, and whose peculiarity is a desire to constantly bathe her hands although the rest of her body may be kept unclean.

WATER WORKS.

The Petitions to be Presented to the Common Council to night.

The committee having in charge the circulating of water works petitions, have so far completed their work as to secure a majority of the tax payer's signatures. These petitions will be presented to the common council this evening with an urgent request for action. While these petitions have been circulated by an organization favoring construction by a private company, and while they have been largely signed by tax payers in sympathy with the movement, the fact should not be overlooked that they represent a class who believe that the city would be benefitted by water works, and it is safe to assume that a large majority of the signers would endorse any practical method for securing the same. In a matter of so much importance the council will undoubtedly be governed by a desire to serve the interests of the city in a manner which shall please and satisfy the greatest number interested, and adopt some plan whereby public sentiment may be thoroughly tested.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer indicated 33 degrees above zero. Cloudy with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 43 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with west wind. For the corresponding hours last year the register was 29 and 60 degrees above zero. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 21 degrees above zero. Clear with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 54 degrees above zero. Clear with south wind. For the corresponding hours last year the register was 40 and 64 degrees above zero.

The Parnell League.

Yesterday afternoon the Guards' company room was filled with an enthusiastic crowd called together for the purpose of organizing a Parnell Aid association. The time set for the meeting was two o'clock, and at that time there were so many in attendance that quite a number were obliged to stand on the stairs. It was explained that the meeting had as an object the raising of a fund to assist Parnell in his labors during this campaign. Many of the Irish candidates for parliament are not able to stand the expense and loss of time incident to a term in the house of commons, and this money is to be used for their support. Nothing like forcible opposition to the government is approved of or will be aided by these contributions. At the close of these explanatory remarks, the following officers were elected:

President—Rev. E. M. McGinnity.

Secretary—Thomas Lahey.

Treasury—Daniel Dowling.

Directors—John Baker, C. M. Scanlan, John Donahue, John Connelly, and John Crowley.

Contributions were received amounting to between seventy and one hundred dollars, and the board of directors was instructed to secure a room and make arrangements for a public meeting to be held in the near future. This movement is going on all over the country, and large sums have been received for the advancement of the Irish cause.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

What Is It, and What Is Its Object?

There lately came to our city a detachment of the Salvation Army, the members of which began at once to sing and exhort the people to "flee from the wrath to come, and lay hold on eternal life." Their efforts, as usual, have met with scoffs from some, but with sympathy and encouragement from others. Meanwhile great uncertainty has existed among the people as to what the Salvation Army really is, and what it proposes to accomplish. To satisfy curiosity, and to set the matter in its true light before the public, the following article is written. What, then, is the Salvation Army? What does it seek to do? The "Salvation Army is a body of earnest Christians mostly of the unlearned and common people, organized with some features of military life, having for its object the christianizing of the masses, using methods peculiar and somewhat sensational. To understand this organization it is necessary to remember the three points of the above definition:

1. It is mainly composed of the unlearned and common people. This statement, observe, argues nothing against it; for, in this respect, it resembles every great evangelical movement of the christian era. John the Baptist, than whom none of the prophets were greater, was an untutored son of the wilderness; Christ was the son of Mary, a Jewish peasant, and a carpenter by trade; all the disciples, save one, were "unlearned and ignorant men;" christianity was 150 years old before the first convert of noble blood was made; having previous to that time existed only among the artisans and slaves. Where did all our churches have their orgin? Among God's poor, unlettered people, and to their honor be it written. For it is the very genius of christianity to seek after the humble, the lowly and the fallen; and in so far as any body of christians ceases to do this, it ceases to be like its Master, to whose Messianic mission the fact that by him the "poor had the gospel preached unto them," was the greatest credential. The explains some of the features of the Salvation Army to remember that it is mainly composed of the unlettered and common people, many of whom have drunk the dregs of depravity, but it argues nothing against it.

It aims to reach the masses. This our churches have been failing to do for some years past. A breach is made between the churches and the masses and that breach is widening every day. But if christianity fails to reach the masses with the gospel, it fails. The Salvation Army is making an honest and harculean effort to do just that work which the churches, as churches are not doing.

Therefore its work lies outside the recognized province of the churches. The Army asks no favors of the churches but welcomes their members as individuals to assist it in its work. Some may say: "Let the unlearned masses be christians, but let them not assume to be leaders of others." We answer: (1.) They are as well taught in general knowledge as were Christ's disciples. (2.) God has intended that every christian should be a carrier of the Gospel to others, and thus the world was to be saved. (3.) It does not require finished education and refined tastes to proclaim the Good News. (4.) The common people, by reason of their knowledge of and sympathy with the common people, can best reach them with the truth. (5.) The success of the army is of itself a sufficient vindication of its right to its self imposed privileges and duties.

Its methods are peculiar and sometimes sensational. This feature furnishes the main occasion of criticism, a criticism not always unjust. An explanation is found in the fact that General Booth, of the Salvation army, was formerly, General Booth, of the English army. As a soldier he saw the value of uniform and organization, and being a devout christian he conceived the novel idea of organizing a band of christians under the form of an army. Its success, notwithstanding its novelty and sometimes extravagance, has proved the wisdom of his policy. It was just the thing to catch the common people of England, and they plunged into the work of organization with an enthusiasm that knew no bounds. This feature is a stroke of policy. Those same elements of novelty and curiosity which cause all the rustic population to come to town on circus day and small boys to follow a company of men in uniform, are utilized in the work of evangelizing the world. If the army was like the churches it would never succeed. To its novel features is owing its success, reaching the very class for which it labors. To-morrow we will write of the work of the army.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE enters upon the new subscription year with undiminished faith in the restoration to power of the party which has shown the greatest capacity for safe, patriotic, intelligent government. It thanks its agents and friends for their hearty support during the last year.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE remains the principal national exponent of the arguments, doctrines and aims of the Republican party. It is a strong, aggressive newspaper, uncompromisingly Republican, and faithfully devoted to the home interests of all America. The paper labors earnestly for a protective tariff, to develop the resources of the different States and secure good wages, good food, good clothing and comfortable homes for the people, and itself pays the highest prices to its own men of any office in New York city; for equal rights and an honest vote, North and South; for every practical measure in the interests of morality and temperance; and for upright, dignified, patriotic government.

Republicans Need The Tribune.

Every intelligent farmer; every old soldier; every worker and active man of whatever occupation; every good wife with a family; and every citizen who wants to identify himself with the party of progress, brilliant achievement and morality, needs THE TRIBUNE.

THE TRIBUNE will be good reading after Congress meets, when Evarts, Sherman, Logan, and other brilliant leaders begin to ask the Administration questions hard to answer.

As an agricultural paper THE TRIBUNE is unexcelled.

A Series of War Stories.

The grander features of the War for the Union have all been recorded. The minor incidents, the thrilling and romantic episodes, are a great volume, of which only a few chapters have ever been written.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE offers A PRIZE OF $250 in cash for the best story of the late War, written by a private soldier or sailor of the Union forces, or by an officer under the rank of Colonel or Navy Captain, about 5,000 words in length, relating a thrilling incident, raid, fight, escape, adventure, or experience, of which he himself was a part or an eye witness. A PRIZE OF $100 will be given for the second best story. Twenty-five or more of these stories will be published during 1886. Every one accepted will be paid for whether it wins a prize or not. The best two will receive the prizes mentioned. It begins January 6th. The competition ends July 1st, 1886. All manuscripts carefully read.

Premiums.

Wood's Household Practice of Medicine, two handsome volumes, profusely illustrated; Webster's and Worcester's Unabridged Dictionaries; Ridpath's Illustrated History of the United States; Young's Concordance of the Bible; and the Waterbury Watch. Send for sample copy, which describes the premiums.

TERMS.

The Daily, 75 cents a month; $8.50 a year. The Sunday Tribune, alone, $1.60 a year. The Semi-Weekly, $2.50 a year, or $2.00 in clubs. The Weekly, $1.25 a year, or $1.00 in clubs. Give your subscription to THE TRIBUNE'S local Club Agent, if there is one.
